

A green rectangular box containing a blue square on the left and a grey square on the right. The blue square is positioned higher than the grey square.

A red rectangular box containing a blue square on the left and a grey square on the right. The blue square is positioned higher than the grey square.

